By gingery playing, aided and doetted by McEvoy's costly errors, the Richmond aggregation took the game from the Brownies at Broad Street Fark yes terday afternoon; and Manchester bunnyed into the percentage column of the Highlanders by taking the game. Richmond had two runs and the champlons were hugging their sole tally when the first game came to a close, Manchester drove four men around the sacks and caught all but two of the Barton Heights fellows as they were looping the loop.

But the two games were the most interesting seen at the park for months Kichmond put up an exhibition yestershy that was well worth the price of admired the sacks and caught all but worth the price of admired the sacks and the park for months fellows as they were booping the loop.

But the two games were the most interesting seen at the park for months fellows as they were looping the loop. But the two games were pulled away that was well worth the price of admired the sacks of the Richmond crowd, and indid it well. Winston was pitted against him, and "Big Liz" was there with the goods. The croy's behind him was responsible for the loss of the game. Charters kept his hits scattered, however, and the chupions could hever come it at opportune times.

McEvoy's Costly Errors.

mcEvoy's Costly Errors.

The Brownles were at bat first, and Bowers get transportation. Meroy sarrificed him, but Rose and Hicks went out with flies. And then came Richmond, with Hogan at the but at the offset. He biffed one down to MeEvoy, who fumbled before he threw. The throw was a bedone, and Daniphus landed safely.

Bauer lifted one to Eacho, who transferred it to first, but Hogan was reposing on the second suck. Knightley drew a complimentary ticket and Shaughnessey did likewise., But Bob started to the second suck and got nailed there. And Hogan came across the plate before the ball could be returned. Shelton went out via short. There was one run and no hit, but what's the difference.
The second inning was another bright spot for the Richmonders. Bridge nailed one out to right garden, but Bowers was there. Charters got a high one and McLeavy smothered it. Kenningham stung one down the third buse line. McEvoy fumbled it a minute and then threw the sphere over the bleacheries. Of course, Kenningham scored. The two errors of McEvoy lost the game for the champions.

Rose opened the fourth inning for the Rose opened the fourth inning for the Brownies by smacking one safely. Hicks duplicated the trick, and Rose came icaring down the line. Shelton dropped the ball and he scored. Sharp biffed one on the nose, and Hicks got caught at the plate. The three first men in this maing got singles, yet there was only one run made, and this on an error.

After this inning it was a glad of one-two-three business until the ninth, and the Richmonders went away rejoicing. The official score follows:

Highlanders Defeated.

Manchester didn't have a very easy me in taking the game from the Barton Heights nine. Until the third inning there was nothing doing in the run line, but at this stage things began to happen. Hogan led and struck out. Sharp and lack Anthony did the walking act, and Albert Anthony got one high enough in the air for the third baseman to get unler. And then Edwards hiffed one to genter garden. Sharp scored on the hit, and Jack Anthony came across when Taylor made the fumble. Swift walked, and Ford got one high enough for Mc-Evoy to smother.

This is an excellent picture of "Bill" Morley, who has been the head man of Columbia's foot-ball team a number of years. He will coach them again this year, with the help of two graduate coaches who were at one time under his training. The foot-ball outlook for Columbia this season is very bright, as they have a good sized squad to pick from. As far as veteran players go the team will not be badly off, as a number of the strong players who were laid up last season from injuries will be put to work again.

E. D. Shurman's 40 horse-power car, driven by Robert Jardine, was third. Time, two hours, nineteen minutes, eighteen seconds.

Elwood Hayne's 50 horse-power car, driven by Frank Nutt, came in fourth, in two hours, twenty-three minutes and thirty-two seconds.

The fifth car was H, S. Houpt's 50 horse-power car, driven by Montague Roberts, in two hours, twenty-nine minutes and forty seconds.

Hayne's got away first at 5:30, followed two minutes later by Dingley. The other entrants followed at two minute factor vals. The course was four times around an irregular triangle of 28.3 miles.

There were no serious accidents during the race, although Jardine, in Shurman's car, and his mechanician had a narrow escape when their car turned turtle. They both jumped, and with the help of spectators righted the machine and proceeded. Robertson, driving Breeze's car, escaped injury when he struck a curb on the first lap. The only damage was a cut tire.

PARIS, September 33.—M. Jean Jaures, most prominent of the French socialists, holds up the menace of a socialist revelution in the event of an unrighteous war.

holds up the menace of a socialist rovolution in the event of an unrighteous war.

A discussion has been going on for some time past on the question as to whether a socialist can be a pairiot. M. Jaures claims that he can be just as good a patriot as any man, and lays down what is generally regarded as a socialist profession of faith.

He believes that the existence of automomous nations is necessary to humanity and that the disappearance of France in her conquest by a foreign mation would be a disaster for the human race.

"Until democracies," writes M. Jaures in L'Humanite, 'have concluded amongst themselves a definite pact of pence, of effective arbitration and simultaneous disarmament, it is the right and duty of France to defend herself against any attempted violence.

"It is the duty of all Frenchmen to defend the integrity and liberty of France, to its fullest extent the defensive force of France."

If war should break out it would be the duty of every citizen to fight for the independence of the fatherland, but the people would, in case of the war being an unjust one, exact the full penalty from the government responsible.

"On the day," concludes M. Jaures, "that the governments of Europe lightly allow a war, originated by pride or having plunder for its object, what shall prevent the attempted socialist revolution?"
